

#bongkarfakta

Postponement of EUDR and what would be the implication for Indonesia?

What are the implications for Indonesia?

Sumber foto: Epthinktank

#bongkarfakta

One of the clauses discusses the Risk Benchmarking and Information System, which will not be functional 6 months before implementation.

This means it further delays the data harmonization process in the national dashboard that the Indonesian government is preparing.

#TransparansiSDA

#bongkarfakta

Another regrettable clause is the addition of a
"No Risk Category".

In the Country Risk Benchmark: Where does Indonesia fall?

#TransparansiSDA

Criteria for countries falling under the No Risk Category

1. A stable forest area since 1990;
2. Compliance with the Paris Agreement and international conventions on human rights and the prevention of deforestation;
3. Enforcement of regulations on the prevention of deforestation and forest conservation.

#bongkarfakta

With those criteria, it will be unfair for producer countries such as Indonesia.

By adding the no risk category, it will undermine the EUDR as a whole. •

#TransparansiSDA

#bongkarfakta

Surely, the postponement of the EUDR should not have happened. EUDR can be used as a tool to stop deforestation in Indonesia.

#TransparansiSDA

#bongkarfakta

Find us

Forest Watch Indonesia

fwi.or.id

FACEBOOK

Pemantau Hutan

INSTAGRAM

fwi.or.id

TWITTER

fwindonesia

YOUTUBE

Forest Watch Indonesia

SPOTIFY

Forest Talk

TIK TOK

fwi.or.id